Android Applications are the programme that runs on the Android device.

Android can be run on a cell phone, tablet, television, and a feature phone. Apps are run through the Android operating system which is made by Google. Most people do not even know that they have an Android based device at this very moment. Android applications may be bought, hacked or built from scratch. Most people try to develop Android apps on their own to enhance their experience of consuming services. Since Android has an open source environment, a lot of people make their own software and combine them into Android-based applications. This report will discuss android applications and describe application programming in general. Another member of the Programmer's Club regularly posts electrochemical method for measurement of cysteine. A simple, sensitive, and selective electrochemical method for cysteine was developed by using 4,4'-disulfonic stilbene as the electroactive probe. The method is based on the electro-oxidation process of cysteine at the surface-modified glassy carbon electrode. The effects of pH, the electrolyte type and concentration, solution-solid interfacial properties of the electrode, and the pulse time on the electrochemical oxidation of cysteine were investigated. Under optimized conditions, the electrochemical signal increases linearly with the cysteine concentration and the detection limit (S/N = 3) is  $3.2 \times 10^{-9}$  M. The method was used for the determination of cysteine in lysozyme and the results were compared with
